Sneakerheads collect shoes as hobby

1 With a collection of more than 20, Ralph Hayes, 11, sits among the sneakers he has collected. Hayes said his collection cost about $2,000. "I collect sneakers because I am fascinated with the designs of shoes," Hayes said. "I think of sneakers as art."

2 Maquela Noel, 11, stands with some of her shoe collection. She didn't like wearing one pair of shoes multiple times during the week. "I started wearing sneakers because I hate wearing girly shoes," Noel said. "I've been a sneakerhead since the seventh grade."

3 Lashuane Lunford, 11, holds one of his favorite shoes, Aqua 8's. Lunford began collecting sneakers in eighth grade and owned 12 pairs of Jordans. He wants to add more to his collection. "I try to hold on to them for as long as I can," Lunford said. "People say they might be worth something one day."

Q: What is a sneakerhead?

A: Somebody who not only has a lot of kicks, but who knows how to wear them and make them look fire. Christian Dorsey, 11

Q: How long have you been a sneakerhead and why do you collect them?

A: I've been a sneakerhead ever since I bought my first pair of Jordans (Chicago 1s) in the sixth grade. It shows everybody you have some sort of style and others you know how to dress. Salvador Esquivel, 11

Q: What got you into sneakers?

A: My uncle was the general manager at Champs in Red Bird, and he would buy me any shoe. I currently own 22 pairs of sneakers and spent around two thousand dollars. Ralph Hayes, 11

Q: Do you do anything different to your shoes that makes it different than others? Why?

A: I use different laces and may paint them a different color. I love being different and changing styles. I also love to dress so that has a lot to do with changing my shoes. Keenan Williams, 11

Q: Do you listen to other opinions? Why or why not?

A: Nah. I like to do what I do for me - not really for anybody else, so I don't care about their opinions. Trent McDonald, 11

Q: About how many pairs do you currently have and about how much did you spend?

A: At least 30 pairs, if not then more, and I spent around five thousand dollars. Zima Seji, 11 in detail: Legacy's fall canned food drive resulted in the collection of 2,028 cans.
